

Queensland Age-friendly Community Development Grant Program 2025-2026

Frequently Asked Questions

These Frequently Asked Questions should be read in conjunction with the Grant Guidelines.

1. What is the Queensland Age-friendly Community Development Grant Program?

In August 2024, Queensland Government launched An Age-friendly Queensland: The Queensland Seniors Strategy 2024-2029, a blueprint for an age-friendly state.

The Seniors Strategy reflects the views of more than 16,000 older Queenslanders – from the south-east corner through to western Queensland and the Torres Strait – who told us what they want, and what they value.

Underpinning the Seniors Strategy is the first Seniors Action Plan 2024-2026 with 51 actions across whole-of-government. Action 15 is our starting point with the age-friendly community development grant program to support the development and implementation of age-friendly initiatives, plans and programs in communities.

The Queensland Government is committed to building age-friendly communities where older people are connected to their community and the people and the services that matter to them; they are supported by world class frontline services when support is needed, and they are celebrated for the contribution they make as carers, workers, volunteers and community leaders.

This initiative will help older Queenslanders to age positively, focusing on connections to their community, their needs at home and recognition of the value older Queenslanders provide to everyone.

This local community development grant program will feed into and support the Queensland Government's age-friendly plans driven by the Seniors Strategy and supporting Action Plan and strengthen the Queensland Government's existing investment in elder abuse prevention and awareness and social isolation reduction by providing additional opportunities for individuals to be involved at a local, grass roots level, supported by their local councils, community organisations and associated networks.

2. What is the purpose of this grant?

The purpose of the Age-friendly Community Development Grant Program is to build partnerships with local government councils to collaboratively work towards an age-friendly Queensland where seniors can lead healthy and productive lives, focusing on the measures at the community level to support older people to be connected, cared for and celebrated so they are able to maintain their independence; participate economically; have access to healthcare; can manage the cost of living; and stay in their own home or access appropriate housing in their chosen location.

These local age-friendly pilot programs or projects will feed into and support the Queensland Government's Age-friendly Seniors Strategy and supporting Seniors Action Plan and would dramatically improve the quality of life for seniors across Queensland in the eight age-friendly domains such as transport, health and social participation.
